

Vebleo Awards

Vebleo awards is awarded to the researchers /scientists from all across the globe who are making a noteworthy contribution to the progression of their field and have been accredited with outstanding accomplishments, in so doing having an encouraging inspiration across the globe. The award is a honor to the awardees who have come up with the dedication to science for progress of humanity. Serving as a cause of encouragement, the awards help to raise the accomplished persons profile. Our awards program tries to recognize eminent contributors to the progress of science and to acknowledge their profound activities. Vebleo tries to acknowledge individuals whose effort has already had a major impact in the field, researchers who are outstanding champions of their field and young researchers who are already on top by their efforts for future leadership. Not only do we honor the awardees, we also believe that by highlighting these leaders and their creative work, we will develop the awareness of the range and advancement of research across the globe.

Selection Criteria

1. The selection of awards is based on prominence and leadership in the field of science, engineering, and technology. Nomination must be focus of the admired field.
2. The prominence and leadership that has an impact in the field of science, engineering, and technology. Appropriate activities might include, but are not limited to, the following:
  - Outstanding and creative contributions to basic and/or applied scientific research.
  - Eminent achievements in the teaching and learning of science, engineering, and technology.
  - Demonstrated leadership or managerial excellence in their work place/ organization.
3. Nomination form must be provided of exceptional achievements, professional attainment, and impact in the field of science, engineering, and technology.
4. Excellence in research, teaching, or management alone is not enough, nor is exceptional leadership of activities; scientific committee members selected as Nominee must have excelled in the respected field. In assessing the qualifications of a Nominee, the scientific committee will evaluate the extent, and impact of the Nominee's activities.
5. The scientific committee reviews CV of researchers / scientists and invites them to submit their abstracts for invited/keynote lecture in the Vebleo webinars/conferences of their respected field.
6. After the fulfilment of the above mentioned, scientific committee confers upon the researchers or scientists to the title of award/awards for their contribution and/or achievement in the field of science, engineering, and technology. Researchers throughout the world who have been credited with outstanding achievements and are making a significant contribution to the advancement of their field, thereby having a positive influence on our society.

VSET Fellow Award

VSET Fellow Award is awarded to a researcher or scientist who has prominence and leadership in the field of science, engineering, and technology. This award serves to honour and acknowledge their career achievement. The committee members and executive board members recommend names of outstanding researchers or scientists for the VSET Fellow Award.
